280 Lloyd Avenue, North Vancouver BC. V7P 3H3

The Centre is a North Vancouver Recreation & Culture Commission facility.

From its opening October 1999 to 2014, it was named Grant Connell Tennis Centre after Canadian born tennis star, Grant Connell. Who was the first Canadian ever to reach a doubles ranking of #1.

In 2014 the centre went through an expansion to add an additional 3 indoor courts with upper and lower viewing areas and one of Canada's first indoor 'Red' courts (scaled court for 6-8 year olds).

It was also re-named the North Vancouver Tennis Centre and now includes 9 indoor championship courts in permanent buildings with glassed viewing areas, seating areas, and change/shower facilities. It is the premiere public Tennis Centre in BC.
